PLANNING FOR RELEASE OF ETOR

Executive Committee of Lawrence Strikers Enlarges Its Legal Force.

WILL APPEAL TO JUDGE CHANDLER

May Seek Opportunity to Cite Precedents to Him For Releasing Strike Leader. Habeas Corpus Proceedings Also Suggested—Haywood Arrives in Lawrence and Announces Intention of Raising Strike Fund.

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 1.—Plans for securing the release of their leader, Joseph J. Etor, who is locked up awaiting a hearing on a charge of being an accessory to murder in connection with the death of Anna Lozano, occupied most of the attention of the executive committee of the textile strikers today. The day was one of the quietest since the strike was inaugurated three weeks ago.

More Operatives Return to Work. There was a marked increase in the number of operatives who reported for work in the mills, although observers declare that in no instance did any of the larger mills have more than 25 per cent. of their regular force on hand. Those who chose to go to mills were unmolested, even the usual strike pickets being off duty. Strict military discipline was maintained throughout the city by the infantry and cavalry companies on guard.

Want Etor Released. Secret sessions of the executive committee of the strikers were held at their headquarters during the day, and after an evening session on Monday, it was announced that active steps would be taken tomorrow to secure the release of Etor. The latter is now held without bail for the hearing on February 3. Judge Chandler, before whom he was arraigned yesterday, having declared that there was no precedent for allowing bail on such a charge.

Will Try to Reopen the Case. The strike committee, however, has secured the services of prominent attorneys and it is understood that they will try to reopen the case.

STIR OVER SALARY OF MARSHAL HAWLEY.

Congressman Higgins Also Contemplates Increase for District Attorney. (Special to The Bulletin.) Washington, Feb. 1.—The bill providing for an increase in the salary of United States Marshal Hawley of the district of Connecticut was taken up by a sub-committee of the house committee on judiciary today. The bill provides that the salary of the marshal shall be increased from $2,000 to $2,500. Objections were made to the bill, as it would make the salary of the marshal $500 more than that of the United States district attorney for the same district, and at the request of Mr. Higgins the bill was referred to the full committee. Mr. Higgins has introduced a bill to increase the salary of the district attorney from $2,000 to $2,500.

The bill was introduced in the senate May 14 by Senator Brandegee, was called up and passed May 28, and referred to the house committee on the judiciary the same day. Representative Higgins, chairman of the sub-committee, said after the meeting yesterday that while the committee might be willing to increase the salary of the marshal, he would not hold out much hope that a bill increasing both the salary of the district attorney and the marshal would receive favorable consideration.

Mexico Facing Another Crisis

MADERO GOVERNMENT THREATENED BY REBELLION.

THE REVOLT IS SPREADING

Madero Denounced and Gomez Named for Provisional President—Madero's Cabinet Holds Special Session.

Mexico City, Feb. 1.—It is the general belief here that the Madero government faces a crisis. The president and members of his cabinet now are in the city, and it is expected that they will meet tomorrow to discuss the situation.

Cabinet Holds Special Session. The conduct of the campaign against the Zapatistas, now operating over a wide area, and the uprising at Juarez, were discussed in a special cabinet meeting today. The president was not willing to admit that the mutiny of troops at Juarez was directly connected with the Zapatista rebellion, and it was agreed that General Orozco and 400 men who have been ordered to take from Chihuahua to Juarez would be sufficient to restore order at that point.

Due to Misunderstanding. The immediate cause of the mutiny was a misunderstanding of orders, according to Abraham Gonzalez, minister of the interior. The minister said Orozco was instructed to disarm 300 of the rurales, but to do so very gradually. Instead of this being done, 70 were mustered out at one time. Minister Gonzalez believes the post commander misinterpreted Orozco's orders.

"Not Serious," Says Madero. "That affair is not particularly serious," said Madero. "It was a disagreement, but the rurales are not fighting under no special banner. President Madero expressed to an Associated Press representative his confidence in the loyalty of Orozco and his ability to deal unaided with the situation in Juarez. He regarded the importance of the incident at Juarez as exaggerated.

Port of Entry from United States. To unofficial Mexico the significance of the Juarez revolt lies in the fact that insurrectionists have gained a port of entry from the United States, the identical thing for which Madero fought for so many weeks.

A Dictagraph Under a Sofa

LORIMER WITNESS TRAPPED BY A BURNS DETECTIVE.

A CONFESSION OF PERJURY

Detective Bailey Testifies That Charles McGowan Admitted Receiving $5,000 for Giving False Testimony.

Washington, Feb. 1.—How the dictagraph was used to procure an alleged admission from Charles McGowan, the Hines-Lorimer witness, that he "perjured" himself when he swore he did not hear C. F. Wicks tell of a Lorimer election fund, was explained to the senate yesterday by a Burns operative.

Statements Made on Hunting Trip. Bailey took the stand after the fiery cross examination of Detective W. J. Wicks. He will be cross examined tomorrow. For nearly two hours Bailey read from "notes" made from day to day of remarks McGowan was alleged to have made to Bailey, who posed as a claims adjuster for the American Bridge company. These remarks were alleged to have been made principally on a hunting trip in Canada. On one occasion, he said, McGowan told him he wrote to Wicks that he "had to come across." He said McGowan told him he asked only for $5,000.

Worth $5,000 to Perjure One's Self. "You should have made it ten," told him Bailey across. "It certainly is worth $5,000 to perjure one's self," McGowan was quoted as replying.

Later McGowan was credited with saying that he would fix "the whole Hines bunch, if I could get them across."

Took Only a $5 Bill. On another day specifically demanded Bailey said McGowan remarked that where he made a mistake was when he made an affidavit for Shields. The name of R. J. Shields had just been mentioned.

"Shields had a pile of money on the table before him when I signed the affidavit," McGowan was quoted as saying. "Shields said to me, 'Give me your money for making this affidavit, but we want to do the fair thing with you; the Hines people have lots of money.' I only took a $5 bill. I was too green or I would have taken it all; that is what it was there for."

Spent Night at Hines House. The detective described his going with McGowan to Chicago and McGowan's alleged attempts to get money from Wicks. McGowan reported, with saying he spent one night as a guest at Hines residence.

When Mrs. Hines saw her husband and me coming into the house she fainted," Bailey said McGowan reported. Bailey added McGowan said Hines told him he would be compensated by Wicks.

It was the worst day for me when I met Mr. Lorimer," Hines was alleged to have said.

Worked Dictagraph Under Sofa. On Oct. 23 Bailey said McGowan left a note for him that everything was "O. K." and that he had been to the dictagraph. Bailey's services were discontinued by the committee, only to be resumed by the Chicago Tribune in December. Bailey said McGowan was with McGowan, having written the "subject" a letter telling of his presence in Detroit and his intention to visit Toronto.

The dictagraph was placed in a hotel room prepared for McGowan. "At Columbus, O., I worked it under a sofa," explained Bailey. "Here we put the dictagraph under a table over it. Mr. McGowan will probably recall there was a cover on the table," McGowan remained silent.

Get $1,500 for Perjuring Himself. In the presence of H. E. Kerr, a Detroit, Mich., lawyer, and with Jimmy Sheridan on the dictagraph in an adjoining room, Bailey swore McGowan said he got $1,500 from Wicks the day he left Chicago.

McGowan quoted McGowan as saying that Wicks wanted to give him only two or three hundred dollars, but McGowan told him he deserved more than his expenses for having perjured himself.

SOCIALIST BREAKS UP RELIGIOUS GATHERING. Persistently Interrupted Speakers at Men and Religion Meeting.

Pittsburg, Feb. 1.—Although it is said, instructions have been issued by the leaders of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, conducting an eight day campaign in Pittsburg, to keep politics out of the movement, prominent speakers of the movement and socialists continue to clash here.

A sharp exchange of words between Raymond Robbins of Chicago and W. A. Prosser, a local socialist, today in the Second Presbyterian church, practically resulted in the meeting breaking up in confusion. Yesterday the Rev. John Dean of California was continually interrupted while holding a meeting in the plant of the Union Steel company, by socialists shouting: "Let J. Pierpont Morgan pay you fellows to come round here to smash the socialists!"

The trouble here today occurred when Rev. Mr. Prosser asked Rev. Robbins how he squared church work with the condition of the laboring man. Mr. Robbins started to answer, but the preacher, after the reply, was not straightforward, demanded that he answer the question as asked.

"I know what you want. You're a politician," Mr. Robbins retorted. "I'm simply seeking information and demand a direct answer," shouted Rev. Mr. Prosser, jumping to his feet.

At this juncture hand clapping and shouts from the audience put an end to the debate. Many persons started to leave the church, and it was with difficulty that a short prayer was hurriedly offered.

Previous to the opening of the campaign in this city, cards were distributed among the mill employees and other workers, pinned on the cards were a series of questions which the men were asked to answer. Two of them are: "Are you a socialist? Are you a union man?"—brought many protests. Many men who had favored the movement asserted the questions were impertinent and objected.
